we are recruiting

translators

Translators are the lovely people who translate our projects from their original language into English.

To be a translator you must be fluent in either Japanese or Chinese.

English is not your native language? No problem~ We have some cute proofreaders to catch your mistakes!

Cleaners are the one who is responsible for cleaning the raws.

As the position title indicates, cleaning them. This includes, cropping, rotating, leveling, removing the Japanese/Chinese texts and redraw it (fix the missing details).

To be a cleaner, you must have a basic knowledge of photoshop, non-experienced are welcome too, but at least you know how to use Clone Stamp tool and Brush tool.

typesetters

Typesetters are the one who is responsible for adding the English text to the cleaned scans
They also arrange and style the text so that things look nice and are easy to read, while reflecting the format and style of the raws.

As with cleaners, some basic knowledge of photoshop is required.
